The series of four games with Wesleyan was arranged that each team might have a home game on its commencement. The manager has several open dates and hopes to add another game at Hartford. 1916 CLASS MEETING.

Tiger Elected to Lead Basketball. Lamond Added to Class.

A meeting of the Class of 1916 was held Monday, March 8th in the Economics Room. The first matter to be considered was the report of Treasurer of the Junior Promenade Committee, J. L. Cole. The report showed that the class was rather deeply in debt for the very obvious reason that nearly half of the men had not paid their dues. The immediate payment of these dues was imperatively urged.

The proposition of a class basketball team was next brought up by R. S. Morris. Upon motion E. S. Tiger was elected. He has played on the class team for the last two years.

The election of B. B. Lamond, who recently entered Trinity from St. Stephen's College, Annandale, N. Y., was proposed and seconded and upon ballot, Lamond was elected. The meeting was then adjourned.

COMMUNICATION.

Sturtevant, '98, Writes Concerning
Late Dr. Martin.

March 7, 1915.

My dear Doctor Luther:

The news of Professor Martin's death reached me not long ago. I don't know whether you intend to have any In Memoriam edition of the Graduate's Magazine or any special volume devoted to Professor Martin, so I should like to communicate to you, as President of the College, my great debt of gratitude to our gifted and beloved friend. It was Professor Martin who first stimulated me to undertake the study of Germanic Philology and advised me to specialize in the particular field of Scandinavian languages and literature. His clear, scholarly vision and his high academic ideals infused me with a similar spirit and were responsible to a large degree for my life's career. His training was of such a high order and his equipment so vast that I received, while specializing in my chosen field, much valuable advice which otherwise could be expected only from a specialist. So much do I owe to Dr. Martin's scholarship, but I owe him equally, if not more, for that personal enthusiasm and sympathy which are rarely found in this busy academic life, where most everyone thinks first of himself. I can remember several instances when he laid aside his own work in order to give aid and encouragement to others. He was a real teacher, aside from his colossal learning, in that he infused his ideals and his warm sympathy into our work. He was not an impersonal machine doling out facts, as are many of our most famous colleagues, but a real leader, whose spirit of kindness was no small factor in his great efficiency. I owe him for all this, for his high ideals of scholarship and his warm spirit of comradeship, and I feel that these few words are a small tribute indeed for such a genius and such a friend. Trinity College has lost one of the most scholarly minds and one of the most faithful souls ever connected with the institution.

If you see fit to print this in any official organ of the college, I should be very much pleased. Any news concerning Dr. Martin's death would be very welcome.

Cordially yours,

A. M. STURTEVANT, '98.

INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL. Endeavor to be Made to Wrest Championship from 1915.

With the end of the season of the Thursday Night Basketball League the inter-class series is getting under way. The Junior class has already elected E. S. Tiger as captain of the 1916 team, and in a few days the other three classes will elect their captains. A schedule will be drafted at once and every effort made to start the series next week and to complete it before the spring vacation which begins March 31st.

More than ordinary interest centers about the inter-class series this year. The games in other seasons have always been interesting, hard fought and popular with the college body. Last year the Juniors won the inter-class championship by defeating the freshmen by a margin of one point. The Freshmen had previously defeated the Sophomores in a game that was a feature of the Sophomore Smoker program the night before the St. Patrick's Day Scrap. These two contests in particular aroused unusual interest last year, but this year there will still be more interest in the games because of the unqualified success of the Thursday Night League. The recent league contests have shown that in all four classes there is splendid basketball material, and some of the games have been of the sensational variety. In the coming class series these same players will again be in the limelight, and the rivalry will be even keener. There is every reason to believe that between the Thursday Night League and the inter-class series interest in basketball at Trinity will be aroused to such a high pitch, and such a wealth of excellent material will be uncovered that a 'varsity team can be brought much nearer realization than was thought probable before the start of the present season.
